Manning Is Empire's Youngest Premier

The youngest premier in the British Empire is the record held by Hon. Ernest Manning, who, at the age of 34 years, was elected on Monday last by the unanimous vote of a Social Credit caucus in the legislative buildings. At the time of his elevation to the cabinet in 1935, he was the youngest cabinet minister, and held the portfolio of minister of labor and industry.

The premiership carries with it the office of chairman of the executive council of Alberta.

The oath of office was administered by Clerk of the Legislature Andison just before noon, following the secret ballot by the whole of the Social Credit members who were present and which gave a unanimous vote as declared by Scrutineers Speaker Dawson and Mr. Gerhart, the party whip.

The new premier was born on Sept. 20th, 1908, at Carnduff, Sask., is of English parentage, and was educated in Saskatchewan. He is married and has two children.

He is to announce his slate of cabinet members in a day or two, according to an announcement given the press.

Federal Representation To Be Re-Distributed

OTTAWA, May 31.—Though a redistribution bill is definitely coming before parliament this session, it will not make its appearance until after the war appropriations are completed. This may mean several weeks before the redistribution bill is brought in. It is being prepared.

Close attention is being given to redistribution by many members. As determined by the 1941 census, the next parliament should contain three fewer members from Manitoba and four fewer from Saskatchewan, but in every province, sharp changes in constituency boundaries will be necessary. Great shifts of population have been taking place. There will be certain seats eliminated in every province, it is expected, and new ones carved out to adjust representation to population. The quota of population will be 51,000 voters.

Farmers Must Report Their Stored Meat

OTTAWA.—The Prices Board announced Thursday that under meat rationing, now in effect in Canada, consumers who had meat stored in lockers when the rationing order came into force are required to report their holdings before June 30 to the nearest branch of the Board's ration administration.

The Board said such reports should be accompanied by meat coupons from the ration books of members of the household to cover the meat at the rate of one coupon for each two pounds gross weight which are stored. This regulation applies also to farmers.

Officials said that a family of five, for example, might have 100 pounds of meat stored in lockers, or an average of 20 pounds per person.

Each member of the household would be required to turn in 10 coupons—one of each pair of coupons up to and including meat coupon No. 10.

Student & Teacher Farm Aid Sought

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, is appealing to school teachers and to students—university, college, high school and lower school—to engage at farm work or other useful employment during the long summer vacation this year. "Farmers will be in most urgent need of all the help they can get, all through the summer," the Minister said. "Other important war industries are also short of workers. Therefore, the Government confidently hopes that teachers and students will not regard the closing down of schools for the summer as a holiday this year, but rather that they will consider the time as giving them an opportunity to aid directly in solving Canada's wartime labour problems. The nation will need all the help these people can give."

At the same time as he made these statements, Mr. Mitchell pointed out that National Selective Service is giving attention to helping in absorbing into employment all teachers and students. Plans in effect will utilize the services of the Employment and Selective Service Offices and are being carried out in co-operation with the Governments of the Provinces and the Canadian Teachers Federation.

Shoe Rationing Said Possibility

OTTAWA.—Shoe rationing appears a possibility if the present manpower shortage in the tanning industry is not alleviated, it was learned Friday from sources close to the situation. Particularly does the situation become critical when applied to the armed forces. It is pointed out that civilians can manage somehow, but the fighting men must get the best.

Manpower shortage in the leather industry only revealed itself when the farmers went back to the land this summer, leaving tanneries without adequate help.

If Selective Service does not act soon, it is claimed that there will not be enough footwear to go around. On top of that, foreign hide bookings for delivery during the next three months will be almost 90,000 short. Add the hide shortage and manpower shortage together and it may spell rationing.

Over the whole field of war production output, in the United Kingdom, in 1942 was 50% above that of 1941.

Field Inspection For Crop Certification

Because of wartime restrictions and shortage of trained inspectors, it is essential that field inspections of standing crops of cereals or forage be made as economically as possible. It will, therefore, be necessary that growers wishing such inspection make their applications in good time. It has been decided that applications for forage crop inspections must be made prior to July 1st and those for cereal inspections before July 10th.

Application forms can be secured from, and must be returned promptly to, Production Service, Plant products division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Calgary, Alberta.

It is to the grower's interest that his application for this service should be filed promptly.

Householders Now Have Meat Charts

Charts showing the coupon values of meat are now in the hands of all householders to provide a guide to marketing.

Meat coupons, brown Spare "A" are in pairs, two number one, two number two, and so on. Each pair, good for one week's supply per person, becomes valid each Thursday.

The chart divides meats into four groups, A, B, C, D. Meats in group A are valued at one half pound per coupon, in Group B, at three quarters of a pound per coupon; in Group C at one pound per coupon; and in Group D at one and one quarter pounds per coupon.

Group A is made up of boneless meats, allowing the consumer one pound per week. But in Group D, which has a heavy bone content in all cuts (save sausage), the weekly amount is two and one half pounds. Thus the consumer gets more of cuts containing considerable bone, but less of cuts where there is no bone.

Meats not listed in the chart are not rationed.

WAINWRIGHT, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 2nd, 1943

IMPROVEMENTS ARE NEEDED RIGHT AWAY

Now that the arrangements are completed for the influx of our soldier boys at the training camp in the park, there is surely needed at once some activity by our Town Council by way of improving matters around town in order that the stay of the boys at this point may be made both convenient and pleasant.

Although for some long time the provision of public toilet conveniences in town has been subject matter for discussion at a number of Council Meetings, and plans have been mooted to overcome this deficiency, nothing seems to have been done with regard to bringing the scheme to fruition.

This is a matter which truly must occupy the attention of those responsible for the town's well-being at the earliest possible moment. Without a doubt, such a proposition should not prove a very expensive one for our elected representatives, and in any case, the need for such an imperative one, and should not be shelved any longer.

The matter of the provision of a parking or camping spot for the great influx of newcomers to town, and the provision of water and other conveniences for such persons (in view of the dire need of housing accommodation) was possibly a wise move, but it certainly does not go far enough in its coverage.

The provision of toilet facilities cannot surely be such an enormous undertaking! There are innumerable vacant lots and spaces close enough in to be advisable and available for such a purpose, and it behooves our Councilors to see to it that this necessary provision is made at the earliest possible moment.

A matter, too, of great moment is the making and graveling of the highway on First Avenue west as far as the C.N. crossing in order that the extra traffic which that road is now called upon to bear will not absolutely ruin what work has already been done there, and occasion unnecessary wastage of the money spent on it. It would seem feasible that with that piece of work finished, it might be possible to have the military authorities further the scheme by a continuation of a good gravelled road out to the new training camp which would last for practically all time, and not necessitate the constant bits of repair work which constantly costs sums of money which are, in the main, just so much money thrown away on account of the work being of so unpermanent a nature!

The matter, too, of establishing a hostess house in town for our newcomers is one which should be brought to the attention of everyone in the very near future. In other towns where these have been set up —through the efforts of Town Councils and public subscriptions—they have truly proved "blessings in disguise", and Wainwright surely cannot afford to lag behind in the matter of making every provision possible for the well-being of those who are making such sacrificial offers to fight our wars—especially during their periods of training to fit themselves for the "big show" which they all will have to face eventually. Let's get something started!

FARM NOTES

SAVE DOLLARS WITH CARE

The annual profit from beekeeping is less than it should be by many thousands of dollars because of brood diseases.

Those who have never had disease in their apiaries may not appreciate the destruction it can cause once it is introduced. No apiary is immune, therefore every beekeeper should be on guard against it, says C. B. Gooderham, Dominion Apiarist. Every beekeeper is urged to become his own inspector and to treat by approved methods every case of disease he finds and to report every other of which he may be suspicious to the provincial apiarist.

Experienced beekeepers will, no doubt, know the symptoms of the most serious diseases, and be able to diagnose them correctly, and also to apply the necessary treatment. Many now keeping bees, however, are unable to do this, in fact some do not even know the difference between diseased and healthy brood. Brood may die from several causes and it is often impossible to determine the cause without a microscopical examination of the remains. The Bee Division, Central Experimental Farm Ottawa, or the apiarist of the province in which the beekeeper resides will make such examination free of charge if specimens of dead brood are sent them. First of all learn what healthy brood looks like, then if any deviation from this appearance is found send specimens for examination and identification. Uncapped brood when healthy are small, glistening white grubs curled up in the base of each cell. At first they are only tiny specks lying on the floor of the cell, they grow so fast that in a few days they may nearly fill it, but they do not change colour. When it is capped over the cappings may be flat or slightly raised and of approximately the same colour as the surrounding comb, they will also be intact with no pin holes through them. The brood beneath will still be white in colour until after it has taken on the shape of the adult bee when it begins to assume the colouring of the latter. Any variation from the above description must be regarded with suspicion and if there is any doubt regarding the nature of the trouble send samples to the addresses already given. The best way to send specimens is to smear the dead larvae on a piece of waxed paper and enclose it in an envelope, or to enclose a small piece of the comb containing the affected larvae in a cardboard box. Do not use a tin or glass container.

World of Wheat

H. G. L. Strange,
Director, Research Department,
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

THE CONTROL OF WHEAT

At Hot Springs, Virginia, a number of countries are meeting to arrange for a supply of foodstuffs to those peoples whose lands have been over-run and who after the Peace will be short of food. This will undoubtedly meet with universal approval.

It is suggested by some, however, that an International Wheat Committee should be set up to control permanently after the war the production, marketing, distribution and sale of wheat. For my own part I think this would be a great disservice to our wheat-growers and to consumers of bread.

History shows that no one has ever been wise enough to control such a complex international product as wheat. All efforts in the past have ingloriously failed, including a similar effort to that now proposed made in 1933 by the London Wheat Committee. All the countries which signed that 1933 agreement broke it within a short time as soon as they found it was not in their own interests to carry it out.

Artificial control of products ends in the curtailment of consumption, hence in the reduction of production, and so producers of wheat and consumers of bread alike suffer. It is to be hoped, therefore, that no permanent control over international wheat will be set up at Hot Springs.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Navigation on the Great Lakes was declared officially open on May 10th, the latest opening date in 17 years.—The U.S. winter crop is now estimated at 515,159,000 bushels compared with the April 1st estimate of 538,551,000 bushels.—Uruguayan cattle losses, as a result of the serious drought, are estimated at one million head.

Germany may harvest a good cereal crop this year, the first since the beginning of the war.—Russia reportedly has offered to supply Persia with 25,000 tons of wheat to tide her over until the new harvest.—Canada has shipped 5,000,000 bushels of wheat to occupied Greece.

Thiamin is also known as Vitamin B1 and it is important both for the nervous system and the digestive tract. It is most important to general health and morale, as has been recognized by the British Government, which pays out thousands of pounds a year for its addition to all flour and bread consumed in the United Kingdom.

Thiamin is easily destroyed by heat and it also dissolves in the cooking water, so one has to be very careful in the preparation and cooking of food to see that as little as possible is lost. Never throw away the water in which vegetables are cooked. It is valuable in soups and gravies.

Whole wheat bread and whole wheat cereals contain thiamin and if you want to be sure you get sufficient of it, add one or two teaspoonsful of wheat germ to your breakfast cereal. Do not cook the wheat germ with the cereal, but sprinkle it on top or mix it in after the cereal has been cooked. Wheat germ may also be added to flour for muffins or other pastry.

To get enough thiamin, everyone should eat a whole wheat cereal, preferably with the wheat germ added, and four to six slices of whole wheat bread every day.

Whole Wheat Muffins Recipe

½ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons fat
1 cup bran
1½ cups whole wheat flour
½ teaspoon soda
1 cup buttermilk
1 egg
2 tablespoons wheat germ
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
Cream fat and sugar; add egg, milk, bran, and the flour, sifted well with soda, baking powder and salt. Mix. Pour into well-greased muffin tins and bake in hot oven (425 deg) for 25 minutes. Wheat germ should be added just before pouring into muffin tins.

THIAMIN

Nutrition experts consider the mineral content of foods as important as the vitamin content. The minerals needed in the largest quantities are calcium and phosphorus.

In planning the Victory Garden the principal question to be considered is whether there are particular crops to be grown for their mineral content, in addition to those which are vitamin-rich.

The answer is no. The vegetables which contribute vitamins to the diet also contain minerals. Take calcium, which is required in the largest quantity and is most likely to be lacking in poorly planned diets. It is also the mineral expected to be scarcest under food rationing.

Children need more calcium than adults. It builds strong bones and teeth, and is important in many bodily functions. Its principal source is milk and cheese; but after these come the green leafy vegetables, the same that are richest in Vitamins A and C.

Here is a list of vegetables containing calcium, given in the order of their value, the richest first: Green outer leaves of cabbage, turnip greens, mustard greens, collards, kale, watercress, broccoli, endive, Swiss chard, beet greens, dandelion greens, celery, kohlrabi, spinach, okra; leaf lettuce, parsnips, leeks, turnips; snap beans, cabbage heads, carrots and onions.

The calcium content of vegetables will vary according to the presence of calcium in the soil. Sandy soils and those in wooded sections also are likely to need lime. Lime is easily added, preferably in the form of fine limestone, applied before the garden is spaded, and thoroughly mixed with the soil. Lime has great value in stimulating the growth of plants, also. Though not a fertilizer, it makes plant food present in the soil more available to the plants.

Phosphorus is contributed by the following garden vegetables, given in the order of their value: Fresh lima beans, green peas, parsnips, collards, loose cabbage leaves, and broccoli. It is also found in many other foods which will be reasonably abundant under rationing, so it is not necessary to grow any vegetables especially to provide it.

The green, leafy foods which are so valuable for their vitamins and calcium are also good contributors of iron. Many vegetables not listed as rich in calcium, contain some of this as well as other minerals. One does not expect to get all his quota of any vitamin or mineral from any one dish as a rule. But in planning the menu, there should be a good representation of the foods which contain these vital elements; and this year you cannot count on having enough of them, unless you plan to grow many in your Victory Garden.

Consult your Provincial or Federal Departments of Agriculture for further Victory Garden information.

No Rush

There is still lots of time in most parts of Canada to have an excellent war garden. Admittedly one gets some personal satisfaction in getting vegetables planted weeks ahead of the neighbors, and, if all goes well, a thrill out of being able to tell his friends that he has had his first radishes long before the usual season. But extra early planting is a gamble and that is why experts urge that only part of the seed be sown then and the balance reserved for planting at the usual time, and later. When planting is spread over weeks in this way, there is the solid satisfaction of having the harvest also spread over weeks in the summer and fall.

As a matter of actual statistics, the beginner almost always starts to plant his garden too soon and also stops planting too soon. There is still ample time in most parts of the country for planting all sorts of vegetables, and in fact the tender things like melons, cucumbers, peppers and tomatoes, etc., are best not sown or set out much before this date.

Informal Is Best

The most effective layout of flower beds, lawns and shrubbery, for the average gardener, is an informal one. That is, curved paths and borders rather than straight lines. But when we put in these curves, especially in paths, landscape experts say, we must be sure to make a reason for them, otherwise the whole effect will be artificial. At the bend in the driveway or path, therefore, it is well to have a tree or a group of shrubs or a flower bed.

In screening, it is not necessary nor desirable to cover the whole of fence, wall or garage unless the same is unsightly. Much more pleasing results follow where the shrubbery, vines and flowers merely break the lines of the man-made structures behind them, but leave enough fence showing for contrast.

For screening, the gardener usually employs perennial plants, permanent shrubbery and hardy creepers. One can, however, get very fair results with quick-growing annuals in both the bushy or vine growing types.

Thinning Important

An important job that looks harder than it is, is thinning. No vegetable or flower can develop properly unless it has plenty of room. Small things like carrots need about three inches between, beets about four, corn three sprouts to the hill. With fine seed much drudgery can be saved by sowing thinly in the first place. With flowers that are grown from seed, thinning is equally important. They must have room or they will grow apically and break down probably in the first wind storm.

Don't Plant Too Deep

Generally speaking, the amateur gardener, it is claimed, is inclined to plant too deep. Seed so planted will not germinate well. The general rule is three times the diameter which means mere pressing into the soil for fine seed like that of radish, poppy, carrot, etc., and about one or two inches deep for beans and peas. With bulbs and tubers like gladiolus and potatoes, from six to ten inches deep is recommended, the heavier the soil the shallower the planting.

News of Your Army

VETERANS' GUARD OF CANADA

Don't be misled by the title, "Veterans' Guard of Canada". It is not a conjures up visions in your mind of men mounting weary, monotonous guard over our coasts, prisoners-of-war, and vital defence installations; if you envision thousands of men keeping ceaseless watch, you'll be right but only partly so. For the job the Veterans' Guard of Canada is doing today calls for resourcefulness and ingenuity, for a type of physical endurance and training that only seasoned troops can provide.

First organized on May 24, 1940, the Veterans' Guard was immediately pressed into service.

Despatched to camps set up to handle the inflow of enemy prisoners from Great Britain, they found in many cases only elementary accommodation ready to receive them. Distribution of furnishings and comforts was not yet perfected. Many of the Veterans, who only a few days before had left their comfortable hearths to re-enter the service, found themselves fighting in their first battle of cold and discomfort. Some of the men, coming on early morning duty, battled frozen pipes and balky cookstoves. They began to think that Robert Service's immortal Sam McGee had been a sissy. Through it all the Vets carried on their duties unflinchingly and often with a smile. "We're old soldiers, we can take it," they said.

Many Canadians misunderstand and underestimate the role the Veterans' Guard is playing in this war. When we think of them, we think of jobs for old men. That is a mistake. These veterans are not old. Their spirit towards their duty as citizens and soldiers could well be the envy of the younger generation in this war. See them on the march, and you will be struck by their steady, easy, tireless pace. Watch them handle their weapons, and you will see why the Canadian Army was truly "the terror of the enemy" in the last war.

On the coasts and overseas the Veterans are occupying front line positions. They take almost exactly the same curriculum of training as their younger brothers-in-arms, receiving instruction in the use of all infantry weapons and following a regular schedule of physical training. They are schooled in defence tactics, and serve in the Defence system of the Canadian Army in the United Kingdom in the eternal vigilance exercised against potential German raids, both air and land.

Not spectacular, but most effective is the protection of vital vulnerable points in Canada, the Veterans' Guard is constantly on the alert and the prowling saboteur has found them an unbeatable enemy. Men who learned vigilance as sentry-posts in the trenches of 1914-18, where laxness meant death for the slacker as well as for his comrades, haven't forgotten "how".

They guard prisoners-of-war, where military knowledge must blend with astute police work. They must think faster than the cleverest prisoner. They must forestall trickery and cleverly-concealed plans for escape.

Here again, the "old soldier" has the edge on his younger contemporaries, for some of these men of the Veterans' Guard were themselves prisoners during the last war, and are familiar with escape techniques. Preparations for escape are usually caught so quickly that they are not even classed attempts. Only a very small fraction of attempts ever succeed in passing the wire. And only one prisoner of war has succeeded in getting clear away.

The Bomber Press in England

A VISIT TO PARLIAMENT AND PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL

Although our schedule did not include a visit to the British Parliament, most of the members of the Bomber Press party managed to steal enough time to pay a visit to this bulwark of freedom.

On September 11th, the two representatives of the weekly press of Canada, Mr. C. V. Charters and I, paid a visit to Parliament. Our visit was arranged through Sir Drummond Shields, secretary of the Empire Parliamentary Association, who secured for us admission cards to the Dominion's Gallery.

First we visited Sir Drummond Shields' office which adjoins Westminster Hall. This hall is one of the oldest and most interesting sections of the Parliament Buildings. It was built by William Rufus in 1087-1100, and was altered by Richard I in 1177-1189. It was originally part of the Palace of Westminster, was saved when the rest of the palace was destroyed by fire in 1834, and was incorporated in the Parliament Buildings, the balance of which date only from about 1840.

This hall may well be called the birthplace of democracy, for it was here that in 1265 Simon de Montfort opened the first parliament, the model on which all subsequent democratic parliaments have been patterned. It is interesting to note that Simon de Montfort, who is considered to have been a martyr to liberal government, was a French-speaking Englishman. For two hundred years after 1265 the proceedings of the English parliament were conducted in French.

Westminster Hall is 290 feet long, 68 feet wide, and 90 feet high. The hammer beam roof of carved oak, which dates from 1399, is one of the principal features.

Previous to 1832, state trials were held in this hall, including those of Charles I, Sir Thomas More, Guy Fawkes and Warren Hastings. It was also in this hall that King Edward VII and George V lay in state before their funerals.

Next we went to see the ruins of the House of Commons. It is uncanny the way in which this room has been totally destroyed with nothing left but the walls, while rooms next to it have been practically untouched. It is like many other spots in England where one house in the middle of a block is completely destroyed with those on both sides left intact.

We were taken to lunch in the Parliamentary Restaurant, where we found that the members have no favours so far as food is concerned. It is neither better nor worse than other restaurants in London. On the wall is an electric sign which shows who is speaking in the House.

While going through one of the corridors in the Parliament Buildings

we came face to face with the Hon. W. P. Mulock, Postmaster General of Canada, who we were surprised to know was in England.

We were then taken to the temporary quarters of the House of Commons. There are about 615 members, and it must be pretty crowded when all are present at the same time. The debate on the Indian problem was in progress and we heard some very fine oratory. We listened to part of the debate. After hearing something of this vexing problem from authorities who have been in India and understand something about it, we have come to the conclusion that few of those who offer gratuitous advice from a distance of several thousand miles are qualified to offer opinions.

It is not an easy matter to attend a session of the British Parliament at the present time. There were few other visitors when we were there. We were sorry not to have seen the Prime Minister in action but he was not in the House while we were present.

The proceedings were interrupted by a Royal Commission, which is an elaborate ceremony, when bills which have been passed are sent up for approval.

While we did not see or hear Mr. Churchill in the House of Commons, we were given an opportunity to meet him informally at a later date.

As Parliament was in session, his time was taken up more than usual, if that is possible. Our meeting was set for twelve o'clock noon, and needless to say, none of our party was late or absent.

We were shown into his office, and as we entered he came from behind his desk, and shook each one of us by the hand with a firm handshake. We were introduced individually by the Hon. Vincent Massey, Mr. Churchill made sure he got every name right and the place from which each came.

The Prime Minister was in his usual black double-breasted coat, grey striped trousers, and bow tie, and was smoking the usual cigar. He looked to be even younger than when we saw him at the press conference in Ottawa less than a year before. He exuded health, vitality, strength and confidence. His complexion was clear, his face unlined, his brow unfurrowed.

It was an off-the-record conference, so his words cannot be reported tones, in an informal way, we hung on his every word. Without minimizing the difficulties, he breathed determination to see the way through to ultimate victory.

To meet him informally as we did is a privilege we greatly appreciated.

A day or so later, we heard that at his lunch that day, he remarked that he was sorry he could not have given more time to those Canadian editors, but we were delighted that he was able to give us the short time he did. It was a meeting none of us will ever forget.

Hints for the Household

Rationing and food shortages are with us in full force. Perhaps the following unusual recipes will help a bit. I sincerely hope so.

Fish Savories

2 cups Grape-Nuts Flakes, finely crushed
1 cup flaked cooked white fish
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
½ teaspoon scraped onion
1 egg, beaten with 4 tablespoons milk and dash of salt
Combine 1 cup Flakes, fish, salt, pepper, onion, and 5 tablespoons egg mixture, mixing well. Shape in 2-inch cakes. Roll in remaining Flakes; then in remaining egg mixture; and roll again in Flakes. Fry in skillet in small amount of fat, browning both sides. Serve with tartare sauce or lemon slices. Makes 6 small savories.

White Gold Salad

1 cup grated raw parsnips
2/3 cup orange sections
½ cup shredded tart apple
½ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Combine the peeled, grated raw parsnip, orange and apple; add lemon juice and mayonnaise to the parsnip mixture, and just before serving, mix well. Serves 6.

Celery Knob Ragout

4 small celery knobs or roots (about 1 pound) or 3 cups coarsely diced celery
2½ cups boiling water
½ teaspoon salt
½ pound ground beef
1 cup 40% Bran Flakes, crushed
5 tablespoons water
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
¼ cup cold water
4 tablespoons flour
Peel and cut celery knobs into small cubes. Cook, covered, in boiling water and salt 20 minutes, or until done. Remove from liquid.
Combine meat, bran flakes, 5 tablespoons water, salt and onion and mix well. Shape into small meat balls and drop, several at a time, into hot celery stock. Simmer. As balls rise to surface, remove; keep hot.

Measure stock and add water to make 1½ cups. Add cold water gradually to flour, mixing to smooth paste; pour into celery stock, stirring vigorously. Cook until thickened. Add celery and meat balls. Serves 4 to 6.

Marshmallow Maple Rennet-Custard

1 package maple rennet powder
1 pint milk, not canned
5 marshmallows, diced
Dissolve marshmallows in 1 cup hot milk. Then add 1 cup cold milk and warm slowly, stirring constantly until lukewarm. Then proceed according to directions on package. Chill, then serve.

WHEN MEAT IS SCARCE

Now is the time when all good women must come to the aid of the family with limited ration coupons. To such women, I present a delicacy that will serve a family of six with less than a pound of meat:

Hamburger Pinwheels

½ cup finely chopped onions
2 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1/3 cup fine soft bread crumbs
1/3 cup milk
½ pound ground beef
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons shortening
½ cup milk
Sauté onions in fat in covered saucepan 5 minutes; measure 2 table spoons (reserving remainder for dough mixture). Combine 2 tablespoons sautéed onions, salt, pepper, bread crumbs, milk and meat; mix thoroughly.
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening. Add remaining onions and mix lightly. Add milk gradually, stirring until soft dough is formed. Turn out immediately on lightly floured board and knead 15 seconds. Roll into 12 x 9-inch rectangle. Spread with meat mixture and roll lengthwise as for jelly roll, wetting edge to seal. Cut in 12 slices; place, cut side up, on greased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Serve hot with Green Pea Sauce. Serves 6.

Green Pea Sauce

Make 2 cups cream sauce, browning the butter and dissolving 2 bouillon cubes in the milk. Add ½ cup drained canned peas.

SAUCE FOR THE GANDER

"What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander" is one of grand mother's sayings.

How well this applies to our wartime meals! A sauce that pleases mother, pleases dad, and the children also. And a pleasing sauce is just what is needed to perk up some of our rather humdrum dishes of today.

Butterscotch Sauce

1 package prepared butterscotch pudding
2 to 2½ cups water
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
¼ teaspoon vanilla
Place pudding powder in saucepan. Add water gradually, stirring constantly. Add salt. Place over medium flame and cook until mixture comes to a boil and is thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. Add butter and vanilla. Cool. Makes 2 to 2½ cups sauce.

A "CAN-HAVE" DESSERT

We can't buy this. We can't buy that. We must conserve on meat and fat. Oh me! Oh my! What shall we eat? Well! Here's a frozen berry treat:

Frozen Berry Dessert

4 cups raspberries or strawberries
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup water
1 package raspberry or strawberry flavored gelatin
1½ cups light cream
Crush berries, add sugar and water, and let stand 10 minutes. Force ½ of berries through sieve, add water to make 2 cups, and heat. Dissolve gelatin in hot liquid. Cool. Add cream. Chill. When cold and syrupy, place in bowl of ice water and whip immediately with rotary egg beater until mixture begins to hold shape around sides of bowl. Remove and stir gently with spoon until smooth. Fold in remaining berries. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze. When mixture starts to set, stir once with spoon. Let stand 3 to 4 hours, or until frozen. Or turn into 2-quart container, cover with waxed paper, press cover tightly down over paper, and pack in equal parts in ice and salt for 3 or 4 hours. Makes 2 quarts.

FRESH FRUIT DE LUXE

With canned goods obtainable in limited quantities and thus held for emergencies or busy-day meals, we should fill our recipe files with tested recipes calling for fresh fruits and berries. Serve these healthful foods in new forms. Serve them regularly. Here is one excellent suggestion for a "starter":

Fresh Fruit Tapioca

2 cups sliced mixed fruits, sweetened 2½ cups fruit juice and water
4 to 5 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 to 3 tablespoons lemon juice
Let sweetened prepared fruit stand ½ hour. Drain; add water to juice to make 2½ cups. Combine tapioca, fruit juice and water, sugar, and salt in saucepan and mix well. Bring mixture quickly to a full boil over direct heat, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. (Mixture will be thin. Do not overcook.) Add fruit and lemon juice. Cool, stirring occasionally—mixture thickens as it cools. 'Chill. Makes 6 to 8 servings.
NOTE: Use fresh fruits such as cherries, peaches, oranges, and berries.

Things To Ponder!

In March of this year, the British Empire air forces reached the high level of monthly bomb-sowing rate of 12,000 tons. They have wrecked more than 2,000 German war factories.

Out of the thousands of ships conveyed by the Royal Navy, less than one out of 200 has been lost. The Royal Navy has sunk or captured more than 8,000,000 tons of enemy merchant shipping.

Since the fall of France, at least 1,500 convoys have been escorted by the Royal Navy through the Straits of Dover.

Some 300 factories were set up in Britain by refugees from Nazi persecution, and they are employing about 30,000 British work-people in war production.

Britain's historic role of asylum for the victims of political persecution is upheld today. It has resulted in more than one hundred industries new to Great Britain being established in the country since Hitler came to power.

Those singing wheels carry more—much more—than letters. They carry food for your pantry, coal for your furnace. They roll tirelessly that you may live in comfort. They race across the great stretches of this Dominion with the men and materials of war, so that all of us may live in freedom.

Twenty-four hours a day our railway wheels are rolling, driven by an army of over 150,000 workers serving two major fronts... the home front and the fighting front.

Use Railways For War, Not Pleasure

This locomotive is hauling a precious cargo—crates of supplies for the armed forces, machine tools for war industries, shells and guns, and aircraft parts. Others, criss-crossing the land by day and by night, are moving troops to embarkation points carrying service-men on leave, bringing business men to key points for vital discussions on war production.

Today, the railroads of the nation are confronted with the task of handling twice the traffic of the last war with less equipment. The situation is aggravated by wartime restrictions on gas and tires.

As a result, Canadians are asked to avoid unnecessary travel; not only outings, fishing trips, and pleasure week-ends, but visits to relatives, holiday trips, and non-essential business journeys.

An outstanding cause of travel displacement is the convention, the number of which must be drastically curtailed to help the railroads meet the demand for vital war service. Today, there are no conventions—except those which are indispensable even in wartime—which cannot be cancelled, postponed, or held with only local participants in attendance.

NEWS & VIEWS OF TOWN AND DISTRICT

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Young, of Irma, at the Wainwright municipal hospital, on May 29th, a girl.

EVERYONE IS REMINDED OF THE MONTHLY MEETING OF THE BOARD OF TRADE, WHICH WILL BE HELD IN THE TOWN HALL THIS (WED.) EVENING.

It is quite a long list which the M.D. of Wainwright is advertising in this issue for the tax sale to be held on Thursday, June 10th.

Take a tip from money! It talks, but does NOT give itself away!

According to the provincial chief pest inspector of the department of agriculture, grasshoppers are not likely to be bad at all on the farms this year.

Rev. L. Wilson of St. Andrew's (Pres.) church in town, was the preacher at both services on Sunday last in the First Presbyterian church in Edmonton.

Out of respect for our late premier whose funeral was taking place in Vancouver, the local treasury branch and all the schools were closed on Wednesday last.

Monday last was celebrated as Memorial Day throughout the United States.

Mr. L. Greer is spending a holiday with his sister, Mrs. Jack Woods, in Calgary.

Rev. Father Leamy of Edmonton, who was formerly stationed here, is in town to conduct the funeral services for the late Mrs. Measler.

Mrs. Garth Mills is spending a few days with her parents in town.

To spend a short holiday with her parents, Miss K. Rutherford is a visitor here from her duties at the Toronto General hospital for a couple of weeks.

Following his visit to the coast and the States with Mrs. Steel, Mr. G. T. Steel arrived home here last week end. We learn he is planning to move to and reside at the coast some time this summer.

Mr. Geo. Reynolds left this week for Red Deer to attend the annual convention of the Auctioneers' Association of Alberta. He is a member of the publicity committee of that organization.

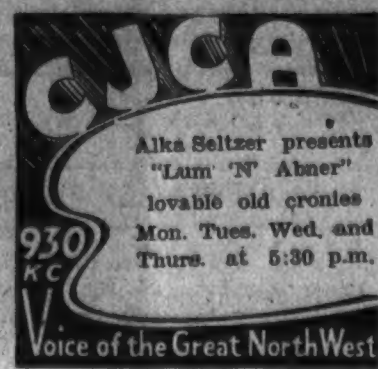

P.Q. Gerald Taylor, R.C.A.F., and Mrs. Taylor were here from Clareholm last week end to pay a visit to relatives.

Even the hens of this district are "doing their bit" for the war effort, this being proved by a gift to the Editor from Mrs. R. Greer, when she handed in several eggs produced by aids measured six inches by eight her Leghorn flock. These "breakfast-inches, and six of them weighed 1-lb. 6 1/2 ounces. Now, if we only had a good friend with some bacon!
